The speaker was none other than the man who had nominated the candidate for governor in the state convention. The remark was made with full emphasis. It did what references to the gold bonds of the administration had failed to do. It brought heavy appliause and laughter from the hundreds of Republicans in the house. In fact, it was one of the phase of the evening.

In this county there is a very large Irish-American vote. However, it will not be for Heber M. Wells or Elmer B. Jones this fall. Yesterday the Irish-American Republicans were justly indignant. They said there was absolutely no excuse for a remark of that kind. It was an insuit to their race, to themselves and to their religion. Men who have heretofore been warm supporters of Wells, were entirely allenated by this exhibition of bad taste and disrespect for them on the part of his sponsor and himself. If the Republican party ever had any hope of success in this campaign, that hope is being speedily dissipated. One month ago the managers claimed an easy victory. Today they admit that the thances are about even. Yesterday a leading Republican went so far as to state that if Roberts were nominated for Congress his election would be absolutely certain.

It was also decided that after the convention the Tuscaroras will show that they are in the field and will hold a great ratification meeting, in which the Timpanogos society, of Provo, will be invited to take part. A committee on arrangements was appointed, constitute of James A. Williams, J. W. Hamm, Angus M. Cannon, jr., John Shea and Morris Sommer.

The feeling of all present was decidedly in favor of the candidacy of Pisher S. Harris for secretary of state.

Like a Wet Blanket.

The ratification meeting of the Republicans on Monday fell like a wet blanket on the party. Such meetings are usually designed to stir up enthusiasm for the ficket and to start off the campaign with a flourish. It is to encourage the 'candidates and the workers so that they can present smiling faces and work like beavers. It is to show that the party likes its leaders. But there was no evidence of such results in the meeting. It was cold and claimmy. There was some enthusiasm, but not such as should have been brought out at the meeting of a party likeming to be victoriops.

Hairly McCallum and Jim Bloor, Brown and Trumbo, held figurative war dances over the prostrate body of their humbled enemy. They feel that they have now made the Tribune cringe and they feel consequently joyful.

Not Quite Harmonious.

The leaders of the Oquirrh club yesterday claimed that the meeting had been a success in bringing harmony into the ranks. They said they had succeeded in their grand purpose of pulling the party together. They had brought all the animals before the public, let them do their little acts, purra a bit and pat each other with apparent love taps, and received several expressions of gwod feeling.

There are now numerous applications for membership in the Tuscarora society given in by some of the best men in the party. A good membership could be pulled together in a short time and the club put on such a basis that it could carry on a vigorous campaign. The members so far are all enthustastic. They believe the time has now come when the club should show its power in politics. This feeling is intensified by the airs being assumed by the Oquirrh club and the boasts that that organization will carry the county.

An informal meeting of the society, called by Judge Powers, was held last evening at the office of J. W. Hamm in the Knutsford. The notice had been very short, but about thirty of the leaders assembled. Many of the old Thurman Endorsed for Supreme Judge and King for Congres.

As the convention approaches, the political situation improves. Today everything indicates that victory awaits our efforts. The Democracy of Utah is united and is marching for ward with the sole purpose in view of nominating the best possible candidates and of electing the complete Democratic ficket. The signs are indeed grarifying. Yesterday news came that Utah county was a unit and the entire delegation will go to Ogden to do the will of the Democrats of Utah county and not to carry out the will of any particular individual.

In the caucus of their delegates yesterday Hon. S. R. Thurman was nominated for the supreme bench. This action is approved by the Democrats of Utah county and is discussed favorably in all circles here.

will be benefited in this way. A great number of women suffer from nervous disorders simply because they never leave the monotonous routine of house work. Medicine will not cure this affilction. The only remedy is to be found in more frequent association with others and by giving the mind rest by change of exercise.

Democracy is a sweet song of freedom that has gained melody with age and some of its loftlest strains are to be heard among the mountains in the west. That song will appeal more west. That song will appeal more strongly to the women of Utah than will the claims of Republicanism. Women have shown their fitness to take part in the questions of state by laying its foundation in the home. Men need not, therefore, fear that their hands will damage the superstructure.

J. B. Timmony followed. He opened up with a reference to Republican ex-with a clean record, but he sadly lacks political information and the experience necessary to make him a successful governor. He makes a good cashier at the bank and the Democrats will take pains to see that he nominate at Ogden a man in every way capable of filling the office. Furthermore, they will elect him.
